Informative Lectures Alert Earth Day Participants

Wednesday, April 22, was celebrated across the nation and here in Exeter as Earth Day. The purpose of Earth Day is to make people aware of the dangers that face our environment.

Earth Day events began after lunch with a half hour teach - in. Twelve speakers talked on pollution and ecology. Three films dealing with our environment were also shown.

Photo and poster contests were sponsored.

They were judged by faculty members during the teach - in. The photo contest was split into three divisions, air pollution, water pollution, and litter. Posters were to have an original slogan and mounted on a stick.

Two pieces of litter was admission price to the Earth Day assembly. Moldy Bread played a song on pollution that they wrote for Earth Day.

In an amusing skit given by drama class, Pollution Man defeated the litter bugs and won the heart of Susan Spotless.

Winners were announced in the photo and poster contests. Winners in the picture contest were Tim Phipps for the best picture of litter, Ann Hickman for water pollution and Carol Hoagland for air pollution. They received a prize of five dollars.

Pedro Avitua took first place in the poster contest. Honorable mention was given to Nadi Graziani and Joe Young.

Mr. Beach was given an award for his efforts in smog control. He rides his bike to school.

Election Today: Vote For Your Officers

Election time is here again. Candidates put up their signs last Sunday night. Last year's officers looked over the signs to make sure that none of them were too long or obscene.

This year Dwight Miller is running for President, Charlie Stearns and Julie Martinez are competing for Vice President, Susie Tucker is the only candidate for Secretary, and Julie Noell and Patsy Tafoya are competing for the office of Treasurer. The Head Yell - leader position will not be in the Student Body elections this year. Two new offices have been added. Pam Stanley is running for Commissioner of Rallies and Brad Wirht is running for Commissioner of Clubs.

On Thursday there was an assembly featuring the candidates and their campaign managers. They each made short speeches.

The actual voting started this morning. The polls are open during school. Some of the Seniors have been in charge of the polls even during school.

design was beginning to show through. By this time the mall was beginning to fill up with people who roamed around watching the painters and cheering their schools.

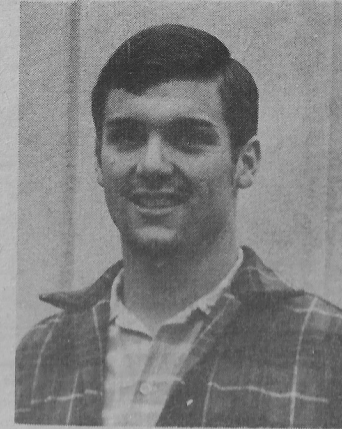

Excitement ran high throughout the day. By 4:00 everyone was rushing along at a blinding pace trying to finish before the 5:00 deadline.

After 7 hours of painting most of the kids from our school were slowing down and began to show fatigue.

Overheard Plans For Ditch Day Multiply Detentions

This year the Junior Class had planned a Junior ditch day for Friday April 11th. The only problem was that it wasn't only the class of '71' who knew about it. In fact a large number of the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes had planned on ditching and going to the river for the a day. But then others were hysterical at the thought of the students ditching their classes, and went to Mr. Hitt.

The idea of the Junior Class ditch day wasn't such a good plan to Mr. Hitt. He said that he didn't want E. U. H. S. to ditch and to go to the river. Mr.

Lack Of Candidates Make Election Week Almost A Farce

It's here at last. Election week with all its excitement; its sleepless nights and tense moments.

Banners trying to stick to the walls with crummy masking tape, Posters, signs, buttons. . . all part of the campaign for an office.

Can you feel the excitement? Does your adrenalin race through your veins as you anticipate the triumph of your favorite candidate?

You can't feel the excitement? That old feeling of competition just isn't going through you?

Well, I think someone would have to be a total fanatic about elections if they could have any feeling about this year's Student Body elections besides that of utter apathy.

With six offices vacant for next year, there should be at least two candidates for each one. What happened to those kids who wanted more control in school government and other activities?

One thing for sure. Only eight are campaigning for a chance to do something about it, and during the year there were quite a few more than eight voices raised in protest against a "puppet government."

Even though you aren't running because you are afraid you might lose, remember: losing an election isn't as bad as you might think. Believe me. . . I know.

So next year, fellow Monarchs, don't be afraid of feeling you're going to lose. It's much better to have campaigned and lost than never to have campaigned at all. By Pam Stanley.

Mr. Hitt Roams River Area For 'River Weather' People

Well it's that time again. What time? That time when the sun comes out the river is running full and schools almost ended.

This is river weather. River weather starts about the middle of April and lasts till the end of August. This is a time when Exeter High students go up to the river and do their thing, whatever that is. It is also the time when Mr. Hitt gets his River Patrol Badge out of moth balls and starts up his airplane searching the

Dear Morny

In regard to the editor's comment about the sophomore editorial. Four out of five times that someone was cut for the 72's being on the new benches just the sophomores were blamed. Only once did the editorial blame a "few sophomore students."

The signatures on the letter concerning the sophomore editorial may have been "fictitious" but I don't write my column with suspicion and mistrust. I trust other people and I hope that they offer me the same trust.

The column might have been more interesting this time had there been some letters expressing your opinions. There are two more papers to be printed this year. Get interested! Write!

brings on more business for Mr. Conley since more people ditch at this time of the year. Which has become a hassle this year since a new ruling that any boy caught ditching will receive 36 detentions and any girl will receive the usual number of 12. This is bad enough since any senior boy getting 36 detentions would be here till the end of school. But back to River Weather, you can be sure that as long as there is a river there will be EUHS

The plans for the Junior ditch day were almost perfect except for one flaw there was too much advertisement. The students were talking to loud and too much during classes, and the teachers began talking. Some teachers went along and thought it was clever for the students to plan such Whitney and Redwood did. So he had it announced over the morning bulletin that anyone that was caught ditching Friday, April 11th would receive triple detentions.

This announcement over the bulletin had changed several students minds for ditching.

Actas To Be Distributed May 28, After Assembly

Another sure sign of spring is the arrival of the new Actas. The 1970 Acta is expected to appear on our campus on May 28. Each year the Acta comes in a different color and you never know what color to expect from year to year but you always know when you have one in sight because year after year the Actas contain the same thing. A chestful of memories.

On the morning of May 28 there will be an assembly. The dedication will be announced and a plaque will be presented to some lucky faculty member.

As always the seniors will be the first to receive their Actas. They will receive them during brunch. The juniors will get theirs during the first part of lunch, the sophomores during the middle of lunch and the freshmen towards the end of lunch.

If you have a student body card you will have to pay an additional $2.50 when you pick up your book. This amount is payable in advance so that you can avoid waiting in line as long.

For the students that do not have student body cards the Acta will cost $6.00. To reserve an Acta you can pay a $3.00 deposit. There are still a few Acta left, but hurry!

The permission was granted to them because of a beard growing contest on Bermuda Day, April 30.

The boys must be clean shaven by May 1.

A few of the be-whiskered students you may see around campus are Joel Heaton, Jim Strable, and Charlie Stearns.

Senior Tea To Be Held

Again the Exeter Women's Club will sponsored the annual mother daughter Senior Tea. The theme for this year's tea will be around the world in 60 minutes, and the guest will be Mrs. Woods a harpist from Long Beach.

Mrs. S. L. Douglas and Mrs. R. A. Leeth (women club members) had met with Mrs. Hadley earlier during the year to decide on the date May 8 for the Senior Tea. Also during the meeting Mrs. Hadley, Mrs. Leeth and Mrs. Douglas had discussed the idea of a small number of Junior class girls to help serve and decorate the Senior Tea. Mrs. Hadley had asked Susie Tucker, Janet Fonville, Julie Noel, Susan Sheer, Lora Siler, and Glenda Carter to help the Women's Club with decorations and serving.

On April 7th, the Junior girls had met with Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Leeth at the Exeter Women's Club Building, and decided on a small part of the decorations.

Improvements Proposed In Government Bills

Mr. Kouklis' classes have been busy trying to create some bills to improve Exeter Farmers.

Woodlake were Gary Munyon, Steve Maaske and Richard Santana. Also taking first was Larry Pitkin. The Monarchs won in the 200 yd. free relay.

Exeter clutched the victory against Kingsburg in the last event of the day. Behind 41-38, the team of Maaske, Santana, LaMunyon and England outdistanced Kingsburg to win the relay in 4:44.0.

purpose.

After all the people had given the purpose of their bills, we talked about them and then voted on them. Most of the bills were passed but some were defeated.

One of the students proposed to convert the Brick Yard into recreation facilities for cyclists. This way, people could practice handling a motorcycle there and not on the streets and highways. Those who want to become professionals could practice there too. The bill was passed.

One boy proposed that we change the curfew laws.

He wanted to keep the curfew at 10:00 p.m. on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday but raise the curfew to 12:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. This seemed like an excellent idea to the students. If this was the law, on Friday nights after games, kids could drive around town for awhile, get something to eat, and drive around a little bit longer. Also, after Teen Dances, students could drive around for a little while. This bill was also passed, of course.

There were many good bills. It helped the students realize that there are many things that Exeter needs and also a few things that need to be changed.

the majority in his views.

He stated that he did not like last year's Bermuda Day, but he believed that the new plan would not cause any more involvement. Rather, he felt that if students were going to leave school and didn't care what went on that no matter what efforts were made to improve the situation, they would still leave.

Custodian Jonah Hartman Is Indispensable To EUHS

You can see him all over the campus, especially where things have gone wrong. Despite much kidding by the students he's there when he's needed. He is always heralded by the jangling of the keys he has accumulated during his many years of service to the school. Busted light fixture - Jonah can fix it. Bathroom flooded call Jonah!

Jonah Hartman is about to enter his 18th year of service to EUHS and when I say service I mean exactly that. He is head custodian and he is over everything but bus maintenance. He fixes everything from broken sprinklers to broken desks, from lights to windows. He takes care of everything from the lawn to cafeteria, clean - up.

Freshman Year Is Full Of Activities For Ann Kreutzer

Many students find school very boring but Ann Kreutzer has found out that school can lead to many activities.

In just the first year of high school, Ann has been in many activities, such as JSA, CSF, Drama Club. She is also Freshman class secretary.

In December Ann put in a lot of her free time and effort into being the only Freshman in the cast of "A Christmas Carol" in the school play.

When the "help needed" buzzer sounds off all the students jump up, hoping for a fire - drill, but the only person to go anywhere is Jonah Hartman on his way to the office for his next job.

Despite all the work this man does he has a never-failing sense of humor. He's always cheerful to talk to. When interrupted in his work he was very good natured about it and answered every question very adequately. When given a job, he doesn't postpone it, but gets right down to business and does his work most accurately. One period he's in the counseling offices fixing a light; the next period he's installing a new light bulb in the library.

Future Farmers Will Honor Achievement

Monday night the Future Farmers of America will hold their annual banquet in the cafeteria.

The new officers will be honored and installed. The incoming officers are Randy Newsome, president; Ed Parraz, vice-president; Marvin Clark, secretary; Rick England, treasurer; Bob Van-Gronigen, reporter; Mike Martin, assistant reporter; Dewayne Hopper, sentinel; and Garry Huffman, chaplain.

After the banquet, awards will be given to outstanding FFA members. At this time any scholarships to be given to Senior members in the field of agriculture will be handed out.

A door prize will be drawn and you can still buy tickets from any FFA member.

Also the chapter's sweetheart will be announced. She is determined by the amount of pennies she has casted for her. Each penny received in her name is counted one vote. The sweetheart candidates are picked by the Senior members with one representative from each class.

Sweetheart candidates are Anita Ewing, Senior; Linda Gill, Junior; Vickie Percy, Sophomore; and Sandi Hulsey, Freshman.

Christine Prudhomme Is Almost A Native African

BY Debbie Johnson

Most of us never travel any farther than our own backyards, but Christine Prudhomme, a freshman at EUHS, has visited many parts of the globe, besides living in Africa for five years.

Born in Nashville, Tennessee, Christine's first went to Africa when she was six months old. Her father was teaching in a missionary school in Liberia and later in a public school in Tanzania. "Of course, I don't remember much of that trip. We came back to America when I was about two and a half years old," Christine "Back then I was just learning how to do things by myself. When I came home, the American way of doing things seemed really strange compared to my African background," remembers Christine.

Christine and her family have lived in Exeter for eight years. Her father is a teacher at Wilson Junior High. At this time he is trying to get a government job. If he succeeds in doing this, the Prudhommess would probably leave Exeter for Arizona or New Mexico, though Christine says, "I would really hate to leave Exeter. Even though the kids cut it

Opel Paint-In Contest Entered By Students

The Opel paint-in was announced one month ago and Exeter was invited to participate on Saturday April 18. The students were selected by ability in Mr. Anderson's art classes.

Arriving at the Visalia mall at 8:45, our troop piled out of their respective autos and donned their "mini-brute turns me on" sweatshirts. The Exeter team consisted of Scott Florence, Judy Sweet, Dennis Hoagland, Cheryl Brannan, Melissa Clevenger and Pedro Avitia. The team captain, Pedro Avitia, was greeted by the competitors of the ten schools represented there.

Schools that were there included Tulare Western, Tulare Union, Grosi, Woodlake, Lindsay, Reedley, Whitney, Dinuba and Strathmore.

After the students received their paints the next step was transferring the pre-determined design from paper onto the Opel. The basic idea of the art students was to use bright colors.

With the help of our Mr. Anderson this task was completed and the basic

Drama Students In Assembly Skit

Weird sounds drift from room M2 over to the crafts room and create a lot of interest in the students.

The Drama class are doing skits and panomines as projects and for grades. The class was formerly Speech class and at the semester it changed over to Drama class. Many students checked in for the semester.

At first the students read different plays and made reports on them. Then they read Macbeth and listened to recordings of Hamlet.

Then they changed over to acting in individual and group skits. They wrote and directed two plays for Earth Day. Steve Brown and Donna Lee headed this project and many of the class members participated in the skits.

The Prudhommes returned to Tanzania in 1960, when Christine was five, and stayed there until 1963.

'Exit The Body' Receives Four Ovarions From Audience

Weeks of hard work finally came to a climax last week when the Seniors presented "Exit the Body" to the public. Both performances were attended by large audiences who seemed well pleased with the play, as shown by the many ovarions.

The play was set in the living room of a New England home. The last resident of the house had been a jewel thief, and it was believed that there were stolen diamonds hidden somewhere on the premises.

Authoress Crane Hammond (Carol Hoagland) and

Even though the kids cut it because there's nothing for them to do, it's really a nice town. I have a lot of friends here that I would really miss."

her secretary (Carol Usrey) have rented the house for a month's vacation.

The plot thickens when Mrs. Hammond finds a body hanging in the closet. The man is Lyle Rogers (Rick Smith), the new husband of her good friend Lillian Seymour (Donna Pendleton).

Meanwhile, another body, Phillip Smith (Dan Croddy) is found hanging in the closet. The local authorities are notified and Vernon Cookley (Allen Casselman), Sheriff, Justice of the Peace, Dog Catcher, and taxi driver arrives on the scene.

Everyone wants to look for the hidden diamonds, even the man-crazy maid Jenny (Janet Mangini), and her crooked boyfriend Randolph (Bill Davis). The busy-body landlady (Cynthia White) even got into the act.

In the final act of the play, everyone agrees to come hunt for the diamonds at 2:00 a.m. that night. Everyone is sneaking around trying not to be seen by the others when Mr. Hammond (Steve Hoffman) arrives from Chicago, adding to the confusion.

The Monarchs had a four run scoring streak in the second inning and went the distance without an error. Orosi had scoring in the 4th, 5th and 7th innings and had two errors.

David Mills led the Monarchs with 3 RBI while Hamilton brought in the fourth run on an error.

Pitching Helped Junior Varsity

The Exeter Junior Varsity baseball team continued to roll in league play as they picked up their second and third league games of the season. In these two games pitching was the main factor behind the wins.

In the game against Woodlake, Kirk Reynolds threw a two hitter and struck out 15 batters, in leading the team to an easy 6-1 victory. The team only had 5 hits and 1 error, but with the strong pitching by Reynolds the team was never in any trouble.

Against Strathmore Robert Ruiz threw a masterful no hitter and struck out 11 in beating them 6-1. The team had a total of 7 hits, four of which were doubles and four errors. In the seventh inning Ruiz was pitching with the score 6-0 when disaster struck and the little Monarchs committed three errors and let Strathmore score, marring Ruiz' bid of blanking them.

Unaffected by the play Ruiz quickly settled down and retired the side to end the game.

Both schools went the distance with only 2 errors and the Monarchs had 8 hits.

Exeter's first scoring came in the second inning. Dennis Pettyjohn went to first on a hit to right field and moved to second on a sacrifice by Dwayne Robinson, then made it home on a hit by Hamilton.

The score remained 1-0 until the sixth inning. Exeter then went into a 5-run scoring streak.

The inning opened with two quick outs for Exeter. Dave Mills hit a double and moved to third as Mike Botkin walked. Mitch Rice walked up and hit a single to bring in two runs. Pettyjohn was next. He reached first and moved Rice on to third. Dwayne Robinson knocked in Rice and moved Pettyjohn to second. Hamilton then hit his second RBI to bring in Pettyjohn and Exeter led 6-0.

In the seventh inning Mitch Rice brought in the two final runs to complete the victory.

The JV competition the Monarchs won 6-1.

Dual winners against Woodlake were Gary LaMunyon, Steve Maaske and Richard Santana. Also taking first was Larry Pitkin. The Monarchs won in the 200 yd. free relay.

Exeter clutched the victory against Kingsburg in the last event of the day. Behind 41-38, the team of Maaske, Santana, LaMunyon and England outdistanced Kingsburg to win the relay in 4:44.0.

Taking first for Exeter were Rich Santana, Gary LaMunyon, Steve Maaske and Rick England.

Taking first against Woodlake were Cindy Stolz and Debbie Johnson. The team of Coday, Evans, Johnson and Sweet won in the 200 yd. medley relay.

Although taking only 3 firsts against Kingsburg, the girls soon made up the difference with points for second and third places.

Winners for Exeter were Judy Sweet and Phyllis Radford. The Monarchs insured the victory by taking the 200 yd. free relay with Coday, Johnson, Stolz, and Sweet.

DINUBA

Dinuba fell to the skill of the A-Class swim team as Exeter took an easy 55-24 victory, to remain undefeated for the season. Setting the pace for the Monarchs were dual winners, Russ Archer, Dwight Miller, Ron Turner, and Richard Drum.

Archer captured the 50 yard free style and the 100 yard free style; while Miller was No. 1 in the 200 yd. individual medley and the 100 yd. breast stroke.

Turner took honors for Exeter in the 200 yd. free style and the 400 yd. free style. In diving competition, Drum captured first and won in the 100 yd. breast stroke.
