Rawls, Mills, Selected To First String W.S.L. All-Star Teams

Monarch standouts Eric Rawls and David Mills were named to the first string offensive and defensive teams in the West Sequoia League all-star selections.

Rawls, a hard running 175 pound senior, was selected to the first string offensive team. Rawls was Exeter's leading ground gainer from his halfback position, but was widely feared by opposing coaches in his ability to break away for long yardage on kick-off and punt returns. Rawls was regarded by his teammates as being the spark-plug of Exeter's offense.

Mills, a hard hitting 160 pound junior, was selected to the first string defensive team. Mills was Exeter's defensive captain this year and was very successful in engineering his defensive team to a very impressive year. Mills was feared by many teams as a hard hitting linebacker and proved to be a real asset to the Monarch defensive unit.

Receiving second team offensive honors were guard, Steve Wilson and tight end, Bob McFall. Receiving honorable mention to the offensive team were

Music Makers Sell Candy

Candy! Candy! That's the word that every member of the EUHS Monarch Marching Band is listening for. The annual candy sale is underway. Yes, the band is now selling its delicious gourmet chocolate and will be selling it until the start of Christmas vacation. Each bar of chocolate costs 50 cents, and the money, in turn, goes into the band fund. The goal set for this year's candy sale is $1728.00. The money is to be used for whatever the band decides it wants to use it for.

The band and student body also had the privilege of having the Sacramento State College Marching Band put on their half-time show, which they were going to use at a nationally televised football game for the San Diego Chargers, here on Nov. 22. It was a tremendous show, and it was enjoyed by everyone.

THE CANDY HAS ARRIVED, and Henry Harp, Sam Epperson, Marcia Fonville, Mark Brandt, and Angel Serna pitch in to help distribute it to waiting band members.

Four Exciting Plays For Student Body

THE BATHROOM DOOR

Did you ever wonder what goes on in the hall of a hotel when the bathroom door is locked and everyone on the floor has to use the same one? Well, if you were fortunate enough to see the play, you can find out.

Mr. ROBERT LOWRY, faculty director of the Student Body one-act plays.

Mr. Ketter Absent

Mr. Robert Ketter will not be with us until after the holidays. He is recuperating in the Exeter Memorial Hospital from a heart attack. Although he is making good progress, he is not permitted to have visitors at this time.

center, Mitch Rice, split end, Dwight Miller, half-back, David Mills, and half-back, Josh Hadley.

Receiving second team defensive honors were end, David Lara and linebackers Dick Kirkpatrick and Mitch Rice. Receiving honorable mention to the defensive team were end, Mike Anderson; middle guard, Steve Wilson; and linebacker, Mike Wood.

MR. ROBERT KETTER

Pam Stanley, Lora Siler, Mike Millsap, Martha Evans and Gus Savage portray a variety of characters in the Student Body production, "The Sandbox."

For more information enough to see the plays put on by the student body last week, you would have found out.

There were four plays in the program, each with one act. The scene described above was the first play, "The Bathroom Door," by Gertrude Jennings. The roles in this play were acted by the following people: the young man, Gus Savage; the young lady, Cheryl England; the elderly lady, Pam Stanley; the elderly gentleman, Doug Padgett; the prima donna, Martha Evans; and the maid, Lora Siler.

THE PEDESTRIAN

The next play was "The Pedestrian" by Ray Bradbury. The scene of this play was the city of the future, at night. It was a play that made a person think about how lucky we are to live now, if the future is going to be like that of the play. The roles in the play were acted by Mike Millsap, Ed Parraz, and Brian Estabrooks. They played the parts of Mead, Stockwell, and the radio voice, in that order. The stage setting and sound effects were very realistic and a little eerie.

GLORIA MUNDI

The third play was called "Gloria Mundi," and it was written by Patricia Brown. It was about an insane asylum where a new nurse was about to be initiated. Janelle Marvel played the role of Virginia Blake, the new nurse. The other roles were played by Debbie Rhodes as Miss Jebb, Doug Padgett as Robert Cartwell, the doctor, Jeanie Willis as Mrs. Farnsworth, Cheryl England as Miss Dunn, and Martha Evans as Miss Lloyd. The play was different, to say the least, as it was never quite clear who was sane and who wasn't.

THE SANDBOX

The last play was "The Sandbox" by Albert Albee. This play was weird but humorous. It concerned a middle-aged couple who took Grandma to the beach. Grandma was played by Lora Siler, and Gus Savage played the Angel of Death. Pam Stanley and Mike Millsap played the roles of Mommy and Daddy. Martha Evans wasn't in the list of the cast, and it's not certain who it was she played, but she played a clarinet solo while Grandma was dying. Grandma was kissed by the Angel of Death, and that ended the scheduled program.

The faculty director was Mr. Lowry, and the assistant faculty director was Miss Fuller. The stage manager and assistant stage manager were Brian Estabrooks and Bill Britten, respectively. The program was prepared by Mr. Simpson; and Bev Withnell, JoAnn Phillips, Hope Radford, Janice Strable, and Rhonna Schelling all helped with the make-up.

As a token of their appreciation for his help, cast gave Mr. Lowry a free dinner.

Change Or Not To Change

The year was 1967-68 and the schedule was a switch from the regular 7 period a day schedule. We began with a 5 period day with periods A through E the first day and each day dropping the last two periods, then adding the periods dropped the day before to each new day. Sounds confusing, doesn't it? After you get the hang of it, it's really not so hard to understand.

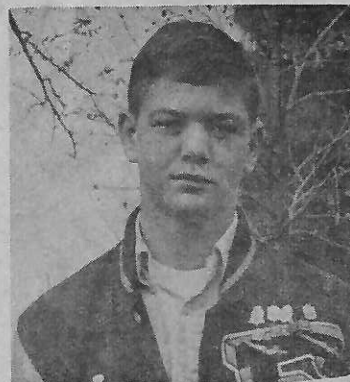

Then in the 68-69 school year, the faculty and administration decided again to try a new schedule, a 6 period day. It's similar to the 67-68 schedule except you only drop one period, the last one of each day. The students hold many varied opinions on which schedule they do like best, so the Monarch decided to put the question to them: Which Time Schedule Do You Prefer? Here are some of the answers.

Mike Kreutzer - Seven periods a day. There are more reasons in favor of it. It has been found that students function best on certain subjects at certain times of the day.

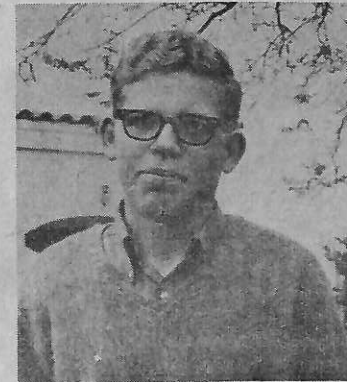

Lydia Rios - Seven period. You have shorter classes. Then we had a study hall, now we are supposed to have time at the end of class to study, but we don't.

Russell Archer - Woodlake's schedule, modular. You sign up each day for the classes you want, and you can do your homework at school.

Stephen Miller - I am in favor of a six-class-a-day schedule with one class set aside each day for study hall. For college prep and higher math students, that situation would be ideal.

Bob Hickman - I think a modular schedule would be best. If you were having trouble in a subject, you could spend more time in that particular one.

Julie Doctor - I got better grades, had less homework, with the five period schedule. I liked the longer lunch, brunch, and better variety of class during the weeks last year, too.

EUHS Hall Of Fame

Soon we at Exeter High will be proud to see two more pictures of outstanding Monarch athletes in the Hall of Fame.

Joining the nine other pictures on the cafeteria wall will be the pictures of Dale Wurtsmith and Jeff Wirht.

Dale is the first athlete in Exeter High history to be in the Hall of Fame for more than one sport. His sports are wrestling and football. Dale will be joining two other wrestlers in the Hall of Fame. They are Dwight Herron, 1961, and Nick Nino, 1963. Dwight had never been pinned, and Nick was the league and divisional champion in the 120 lb. weight group.

Dale will also be joining Steve Stanley, Vernon Reams and Tom Phillips in the football section.

Steve Stanley was a starter in the North-South Shrine game along with Vernon Reams who was voted most valuable lineman in 1964.

Tom Phillips was on the Monarch Varsity for four years and gained 1207 yards as a senior in 1962.

In the swimming group, Jeff Wirht will be alongside two other outstanding swimmers. Suzan Hayes was league and divisional champion in backstroke in 1966 and held five school records. In 1966 Doug Curry held ten school records and was the divisional butterfly champ.

Baseball is represented by Ray Strable who pitched

Representative From Fresno State Visits EUHS Campus

A representative from Fresno State came to Exeter High School November 20th, to present a lecture for any graduating student interested in Fresno State. He handed out pamphlets which told about housing and program schedules on the campus.

In the new reading lab on the east lawn, Mrs. Sparks uses one of the new techniques for more efficient reading.

Athletes Honored At Banquet

The Foster Memorial

Fresno offers a five year program in liberal arts, teacher education, and several occupational and vocational fields, and six year programs in selected professional fields. Non-degree programs are offered in technical, agriculture, and public administration. Preprofessional programs are available in many areas.

The SAT Test is required. Opinions on the test vary, but at Fresno State you must have a grade average of "C."

Financial aid is available through scholarships, grants, and national defense student loans.

The college lets you know what residence area is available, and all fraternities, sororities, and apartments have to be college approved.

The enrollment in Fresno State is well over 10,000 students and the campus is still growing with new classes available.

Magazine Sales

This year's junior class magazine sales profit was the lowest recorded in two years. After the two week sale the class made a total of $340. Compared to the $800 made by the class last year, $460 went to the

New PE Course Idea

Last week something new was added to our physical education program -- ski education.

Mr. Stan Beach, P.E. teacher and noted skier in our area, has been spreading the "ski bug" to interested students during their P.E. classes. He has shown movies with some of the most beautiful ski scenes in the world.

The Mineral King development was discussed and what effects it may have on the ski interests of Exeter High School students. He told of the different features now offered at the three ski areas close to Exeter -- Wolverton, China Peak, and Badger Pass.

Also he brought to the attention of the students the many fundamentals of skiing and some of the safety techniques of the slopes.

Co-Op Quiz

Junior and senior agricultural students took a Co-Op Quiz.

The students were competing for cash prizes for the first five places in the contest. The winners on the local level were Sandy Newsome, first and will receive $10.00. There was a tie for second and third between Paul Metcalf and John Crow. They each will receive $8.00. There also was a tie for fourth and fifth between Dee Hext and Josh Hadley. They each will receive $4.00.

The first two winners will compete in Exeter on December 12 at the sectional CO-OP quiz, and then the winners from that contest will move on to the regional quiz. The winners from that quiz will move on to the state quiz where they will compete for state scholarships.

First Deadline For Acta Met

The sections finished for the first deadline are the opening section, the dedication, the administration, Academic Life, faculty, seniors, homecoming, and the ads.

Members of the staff this year are Mike Anderson, Joann Bailey, Vikki Blackwell, Lori Brown, Chuck Clark, Stanley Dillon, Cheryl England, Sharlane Freudiger, Linda Gill, Josh Hadley, Pete Hickey, Lynn Jakes, Mike Journey, Susan Kirk, Nancee Knapp, Donna Lee, Barbara Moore, Abby Northcutt, Lupe Pacheco, Betsy Petter, Chuck Pruner, Valerie Ragsdale, Frances Reiff, Sharon Russell, Pam Stanley, Libbi Sweet and Terrie Wilcox.

Every member of the Senior class was given 5 one dollar tickets to sell in two weeks.

There was a large turnout, and the show was a success.

'Our Man Flint'

The Christmas movie this year to be shown on Dec. 20, is "Our Man Flint," starring James Coburn. Admission for all students is one large can or two small cans of food.

Physiology Is Interesting Class

Physiology is one of the many interesting classes available on the EUHS campus. Those who take physiology usually have some interest in this field or something similar to it.

The course pertains to the functions of the human body and contains many topics such as the circulatory system, the skeletal and nervous systems, muscles, reproduction and the respiratory system of the human body.

Mr. Gene Shields, the instructor, helps the students with their projects from their textbooks. He also teaches Sophomore biology.

They are now dissecting cats and comparing the position of the cats' organs and muscles to those of human beings. A lot of studying has been done before they could start this project.

They also have doctors and other professional people in the field of physiology come to lecture about their particular field.

Later on in the year they will take a field trip to Porterville State Hospital and perhaps other field trips, if possible.

REGINA QUALLS AND JEFF DURRANT, Junior physiology students, seem to enjoy this task less than "George," their cat, does. Dissecting cats is one of their main projects.
